Environmental Policy

At Topflight, we actively work to reduce our direct and indirect climate impact and to prevent pollution of land, water and air.

We achieve this by:

- complying with applicable environmental legislation and other binding requirements.
- promoting greater environmental awareness among our employees, suppliers and other interested parties.
- using resources such as raw materials and other production inputs efficiently and responsibly.
- considering a life cycle perspective in purchasing, waste management, investments and the assessment of environmental aspects.
- applying the precautionary principle wherever there is a risk of pollution.

Through our ISO 14001 certification and systematic work in accordance with the principles above, we protect the environment and contribute to sustainable development. Our customers can feel confident that they have chosen a business partner that cares for our shared environment.

Cina Dahl
CEO